

While the Vikings 2011 Season and Metrodome Lease End Today, the Stadium Discussion is Heading into Overtime.

As our 2011 season comes to a close today, we will immediately begin assessing our team and focusing on the Vikings future on-field success.

We will also continue to work as hard as possible with the Governor and legislative leaders on finding a stadium solution in Minnesota.

The stadium issue has been discussed for over 10 years. Our 30-year Metrodome lease expires at the conclusion of today's game. We're now officially in overtime!

We're not looking for a new home. Just a new house.

We've offered to contribute $425 million to the proposed stadium in Arden Hills. That's the third-largest private contribution in NFL history. And remember, the multi-use facility will be owned by the people of Minnesota and available 300 days a year for non-Vikings events.

An added bonus is 13,000 full and part time jobs, including 7,500 in our depressed construction industry that will provide nearly $300 million in wages over three years.

To get this done, we need what a winning football team always needs – strong fan support. Of course, that's what we've come to expect from our amazing fans. Now more than ever, we need you to call your legislators and tell them, "It's time to stop punting. Let's get this stadium built!"
